Membership Application

We are delighted at your interest in joining Congregation Beth El-Keser Israel, affectionately known as BEKI.

BEKI is a traditional, egalitarian, participatory synagogue, affiliated with the Conservative movement. Our members are diverse – in Jewish background, age, economic situation, political outlook, and sexual and gender orientation – but are united by our love of Torah and Jewish community. We value every member and prospective member, and we never turn anyone away for lack of ability to pay.

I hereby apply for membership in Congregation Beth El-Keser Israel and promise to abide by all the rules and regulations of the Congregation. I understand that nobody is turned away from the congregation because of inability to pay, and that if I am unable to pay full dues, I may apply for a confidential abatement by indicating below. If I apply for an abatement, a member of the abatement committee will call me to arrange a reduced payment (see also "A Guide to Your Financial Commitment," page 7 of this application).

Dues cover less than half the cost of operating the synagogue. Therefore, I agree to pay the first year of my membership and thereafter, when the Board of Directors sets the annual dues. I also understand that if I resign my membership, I remain responsible for any outstanding debts to the Congregation, including dues incurred until the date the Congregation receives written notice of the resignation.

I have enclosed full payment with application

I would like a member of the confidential abatement committee to call me to discuss reduced dues or a payment plan.

Dues and fees are payable in advance. Please return your application & your check for the correct amount made out to Congregation Beth El-Keser Israel.

Hebrew Name & Status Information

BEKI welcomes attendance and participation by people at all stages of their Jewish journeys. At the same time, we strive to comply with generally accepted standards of legal Jewish status as defined by Jewish law and as interpreted by the Rabbinical Assembly. Therefore, in accordance with Conservative Jewish practice, please indicate the Jewish status of the members of your family. This information will remain confidential and will be reviewed only by Rabbi Eric Woodward.

Rabbi Woodward will be pleased to work with anyone in your household who is considering conversion or would like to bring their technical legal status into alignment with their existing Jewish identity. You may give this form to the office or directly to Rabbi Woodward.

If you have any questions about this page, or would like to discuss these questions – or any others -- please feel free to get in touch with Rabbi Woodward at (203) 389-2108 x 120 or rabbi@beki.org.

We look forward to getting to know you!

A GUIDE TO YOUR FINANCIAL COMMITMENT TO CONGREGATION BETH EL-KESER ISRAEL
2022-2023 5782-5783

Annual synagogue membership dues cover less than 35 percent of Congregation Beth El - Keser Israel's operating costs. BEKI nonetheless strives to keep costs low and offers abatement and payment plans.

Name(s) of adult members _____

Membership categories (synagogue membership includes High Holiday tickets, scholarship eligibility, the rabbi's services for lifecycle events such as weddings and funerals, and discounts on classes for which fees are charged):

- Basic Single Membership: $1100 - This includes two-adult households, with or without children, in which only one adult chooses to affiliate with Beth El-Keser Israel.
- Basic Family Membership: $2000 - This covers a two-adult household, with or without children, in which both adults choose to affiliate with Beth El-Keser Israel.
- Young Member: If you are a single person under age 30, or a couple (living together in one household) both of whom are under 30, you may join as Young Members. The dues for Young Members are set by the Young Members themselves — you pay whatever you are able to pay. When a single Young Member turns 30, or one half of a Young Members couple turns 30; for the following membership year you become eligible for the full dues in accordance with our guidelines for the rest of the adult congregation.
