SANCTUARY REDESIGN

As everyone looks forward to better days ahead, the Sanctuary Redesign Committee is planning for a time when the entire BEKI family can gather safely and joyfully in a sanctuary that meets our community’s physical, spiritual, and fiscal needs.

The committee expects to develop a design concept by this spring. Their work is guided by feedback from BEKI members, President Yaron Lew, Rabbi Eric Woodward, and by the committee’s mission statement: to design a sanctuary that is warm, inclusive, accessible, inspirational, and feasible.

An online congregational survey in November got a great response from 183 people, 95 percent of whom are BEKI members. The survey results help identify major priorities for the sanctuary redesign. Those priorities include: accessibility, seating, acoustics, climate control and air quality, amount of natural light, and intangible priorities (such as a warm atmosphere; fostering a sense of community; creating a space conducive to participatory prayer and singing; and facilitating a spiritual experience.)

These survey findings dovetail with BEKI’s values and the redesign committee’s mission statement. Accessibility supports BEKI’s egalitarian and inclusive values. The redesign committee will consider accessibility and inclusivity in every aspect of the sanctuary’s design and function. Changing from our current hierarchical, audience-style seating arrangement (facing a stage in front) to a more inclusive layout will better fit our participatory, member-led services. Acoustical improvements will also promote inclusivity, accessibility, and the participatory nature of our services.

For climate control and air quality, part of the committee’s charge is to determine what HVAC improvements are needed in the sanctuary and to incorporate those changes into the redesign. The upgrades should lessen the noise (thereby improving acoustics), enhance air quality, and improve energy efficiency — potentially reducing BEKI’s carbon footprint and operating costs.

Replacing the single-pane sanctuary windows with energy-efficient glass will offer many design possibilities for increasing natural light in the room.

To help us turn these priorities into design proposals that fit BEKI’s unique character, the Committee has retained architect Michael Goldblum of Building Studio Architects in New York City. https://buildingstudio.com. A Stamford native, Michael has a wealth of experience in synagogue design. He has also worked on numerous Connecticut projects, including the historic preservation of a downtown New Haven bank building.

Please watch your email and BEKI Happenings for additional updates and opportunities to be involved in the redesign process. At any time, please feel free to contact us with questions or suggestions: sanctuaryredesign@beki.org.

Learn to Read Torah

BEKI is offering “Learn to Leyn,” a six-week Torah trope course with Cantor Shoshana Lash, starting Jan. 5. This will be a free, one hour, in-person class, each Wednesday at 6:10 pm at BEKI. This class is for you if you never learned to leyn, or if you have forgotten almost everything. The only prerequisite is that you can read Hebrew. For more information and to register: cantorSL@yahoo.com. This course is provided with support from the Morris & Sara Oppenheim Fund for Sacred Music.

Our Musical Heritage

Ethnomusicologist Rachel Adelstein, a BEKI member who for years has created engaging presentations about Jewish music, will launch a 6-part Zoom program Jan. 10, focusing on the origins and the evolution of the tunes we use in our services at BEKI, Mondays at 8 pm at tinyurl.com/BEKIschmooze. Tune in for as many classes as you would like. This course is provided with support from the Morris & Sara Oppenheim Fund for Sacred Music.

Tu Bishvat Seder

Join us for an online celebration of the New Year for Trees on Sunday, Jan. 16 from 6:30 to 7:30 pm. For this Seder, we’ll say the blessing for wine once and the blessing for fruit three times. To fully participate, prepare a glass of wine or grape juice and a dish of three things that grow on trees, such as an almond, walnut, cashew, orange, apple, pear, or olive. Feel free to bring your entire dinner to the Zoom. We’ll have songs, conversation, and videos to keep both adults and children engaged. At tinyurl.com/BEKI-

Explore Prayer

On the third Wednesday of the month, which is Jan. 19, you are invited Prayer and Liturgy at BEKI, an Ongoing Exploration with Rabbi Carl Astor. The focus is to better understand the language, the historical context, and the spiritual meaning of our prayers and liturgy. The special Zoom link for this program is https://us02web.zoom.us/j/83810021641?pwd=ejVqK3pta0c0UHIHRYtVbDUyWG1WQT09.

Book Schmooze Jan. 26

Author Jennifer Anne Moses will discuss her most recent book, a collection of short stories entitled The Man Who Loved His Wife, on Wednesday, Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m. This book, she explains, “is the result of my deep dive into Yiddish literature and my love of the Hebrew language.” Also a painter, she is the author of six prior books, dozens of essays and articles; she currently writes a blog for The Times of Israel. Join us for this book talk at tinyurl.com/BEKIschmooze.
Zoe Katz Bat Mitzvah

The bat mitzvah of Zoe Katz, daughter of Julie and Sam Katz, will be celebrated on Saturday, January 8, parashat Bo. The congregation is invited to attend. Kiddush lunch sponsored by Julie and Samuel will follow. Zoe, a 7th grader at Ezra Academy, plays polo for the Yale Polo team. She also loves Camp Ramah, iced coffee, gymnastics, and animals. Zoe would happily walk your dog, feed your cat, or ride your horse, if you have one to lend her, as she has no animals at home.

Minyan News

Morning minyan on Monday, Jan. 17, which is M.L.King Day, will be at 9 am.

The Ritual Committee requests that more of us commit to one weekly minyan so that they can anticipate attendance. Questions? Consult bekitefilla@gmail.com.

No March Bulletin

The next bulletin will be a combined February/March issue. The deadline for submissions will be Monday, Jan. 10.

Clothing for DESK

Thank you for your donations of men’s outdoor clothing for Downtown Evening Soup Kitchen.

Conversation with the Artist

Join us in the BEKI gallery after Kiddush lunch on Saturday, Feb. 5 for a conversation with artist Bruce Oren, starting at 12:30 pm. Please note the new date and time.

Zoe Katz

The snow date will be the following Shabbat. Bruce’s exhibit of sculpture, photography and paintings, “Entropy Warriors,” will be on display until Feb. 26.

November Teahouse, a giclée print from the “Entropy Warriors” exhibit.

RABBI INSTALLATION MARCH 27

It is customary to hold an Installation Ceremony for a new rabbi within the first year of his service. With the excitement and love we feel towards our new rabbi, there is a great desire among our members to hold a meaningful ceremony. I am happy to announce that preparations have started, a leadership team is in place, the date is set for Sunday morning March 27, and Rabbi Ravid Tilles, whom the rabbi adores, has committed to speak.

I can’t tell you how thrilled I am to see our synagogue and our community thriving and excited. These are wonderful times to be a BEKI member, and the positive energy is contagious. Please remember that I am always available, and you may contact me anytime with any issue that needs my attention at president@beki.org.

Youth Activities

BY ANNIE NORMAN-SCHIFF,
YOUTH AND FAMILY PROGRAMMING DIRECTOR

BEKI children and youth kept the dark days warm and bright as they celebrated Hanukkah. On the 4th night, families with young children gathered for a mid-week party and story reading, co-sponsored with PJ Library. First, families listened to a picture book at Mitchell Library. Then, they crossed the street to BEKI for more festivities. We told the story of the holiday; lit candles; sang Hanukkah favorites with song leader Joshua Perry; and decorated personalized dreidels.

As always when we co-sponsor an event with PJ Library, this party introduced BEKI to new and unaffiliated families, who experienced firsthand how we welcome and celebrate children.

BEKI Kadima and USY closed out the holiday with an 8th night Hanukkah party. The tweens and teens made their own gelt with fair trade chocolate and competed in an extreme dreidel tournament for raffle tickets and prizes. They joined with the larger BEKI community to light all eight candles and bring even more light into the world.

Thanksgiving Pies

The teens returned to the kitchen to make Thanksgiving pies for the first time since fall 2019. This tzedakah fundraiser—and sweet contribution to the tables of many BEKI families—was a great success once again.

Fourteen BEKI teens assembled 120 kosher pareve pies, some pumpkin and some apple. Over 50 of these pies were sponsored by BEKI community members as donations to the Downtown Evening Soup Kitchen. The rest made their way to many of our own Thanksgiving tables.

The teens spent three hours on their feet assembling the pies. We needed all fourteen sets of hands to get the job done. But their spirits were high, and they were able to taste some pumpkin pie à la mode by the end of the evening.

Thank you to everyone who purchased pies for themselves and for DESK, supporting this wonderful project.
Kiddush Teams

Kiddush preppers meet over food and drink in early June 2021.

Mini Kiddush Outdoors

Based on current Covid numbers in New Haven County and CDC guidelines for large group gatherings, we are keeping Kiddush outside. Since the weather is too cold to sit comfortably for a full lunch, we have switched to a simpler format. We will NOT set up tables and chairs. Instead, we’ll have hot beverages and snacks on the sidewalk near the parking lot. We’ll continue this Mini Kiddush through the winter, no matter the temperature. If Covid rates drop sufficiently or CDC guidelines change, we will move indoors and resume full luncheons.

The cost of sponsoring a Mini Kiddush is just $100. If you would like to sponsor, please contact Rebecca Weiner. If you would like to join a Kiddush team, please tell Ellen Cohen.

Thank you to the volunteers who prepare our food every Thursday. Apologies to anyone whose name we omitted.

Making a Minyan & Torah Reading

To make sure we have a minyan consistently, please, if you can, make a weekly commitment to one or more service times. Let Max DuBoff duboff.max@gmail.com, Rachel Wiseman Gerber wisemangerber@gmail.com, or one of the minyan captains know about your availability.

We’re also looking to expand BEKI’s pool of Torah readers, both for Shabbat and weekdays. Please let Eva Shragis (ritualcoordinator@beki.org) know if you want to read a segment of any length, including if you want to but don’t yet know how. Help is available.

Thanks to everyone who helps make BEKI services strong.

Taped Shabbat Services Online

For anyone not able to attend our in-person Shabbat morning services, a selection of Psukei d’Zimrah, Shacharit, Torah, and Musaf services—led by volunteers and filmed by Jennifer Myer in the BEKI sanctuary—is posted at www.beki.org/shabbat-service-videos.

Thank you to all who attended Mark Oppenheimer’s presentation on his book Squirrel Hill and supported our Book and Gift Fair. The Hanukah swag bags were a big success; we will offer them again next year. Although we sold out of Hanukah candles, many Hanukah items remain and will be discounted 20 percent. Beautiful Shabbat and Havdalah candles are always available.

The early sunsets and cold nights give you a chance to cozy up with a good book. We have a wonderful selection of children’s books, young adult books, and books of adult interest.

We are open every day except Shabbat by appointment. Or drop in after morning minyan on Sunday and Thursday, and evening minyan Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Karen Kassap 203-430-2182. Harriet Friedman 203-675-8607.

The Tree of Life at the entrance to BEKI is a collection of gold-colored leaves that honor people and moments in our lives. For $118 you can add a leaf. Contact Marjorie Wiener at 203.387.6278 or marjoriewiener@yahoo.com.

What will your Jewish Legacy be?

Harold Miller Created a Legacy for his Synagogue, BEKI

“Keser Israel, and now Beth-El Keser Israel (“BEKI), has been my synagogue for my entire life. My grandfather was actually the president of Keser Israel in 1948. I had my Bar Mitzvah at Keser Israel and I was married at BEKI. It is a pleasure for me to make a legacy commitment to this synagogue that has been and continues to be such an important part of my life.”

I t’s an exciting time at BEKI. Earlier this month, we had scores of young people present for a Hanukkah program with PJ Library. Just two Shabbatot before, we welcomed more than 20 new members who have recently joined us. And we’re in the process of envisioning new possibilities for our sanctuary.

But for me, in the immediate future, I’m looking forward to something that doesn’t have a lot to do with Judaism: I’m looking forward to the first real snowfall of the year.

I remember my first East Coast snowfall. I was sitting in Philosophy 101 (Katharine was in that class, too), and it was a Friday morning in the 10 am section. Large, wet snowflakes descended onto the patio outside the classroom, and over the 50 minutes of class they created little piles on the railing and chairs.

I’d seen snow before, skiing in the California mountains, but I’d never had snow where I lived. I’d never seen snow in my everyday life, covering things that were so ordinary with this totally extraordinary, almost magical, substance.

Yes, I get sick of snow by March. In the shoveling and in the salting and in the stepping in snowy puddles, I am sure I will regret this column. But for now, I want to embrace it.

I want to embrace the possibility of wonder and surprise. Do you feel that when you see snow? I’m excited to see West Rock covered in snow. What will its outcroppings look like? One of the great aspects of snow is how it falls over our regular lives and transforms them, at least briefly, into something magical.

Often, our Jewish lives can focus so intensely on Judaism that we forget that the world, too, is an aspect of our Jewish lives. The appreciation of beauty – the snow, the ocean, the flowers in the spring – is holy, too.

Take some time this winter to appreciate. Maybe set a few moments aside each day to remark to yourself about something beautiful you see. Make a space for appreciation of this world around us. Feel a sense of wonder. Let the regularity of your life be transformed by the snow.
