Yizkor Memorial Book

Although the deadline for returning your forms for the Yizkor Memorial Book was August 31, submissions by Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5, will be accommodated. After that date, the gates for entries will be closed, to allow time for proofreading and printing. If you have questions, please contact Shoshana Lash at CantorSL@yahoo.com or at yizkorbook@beki.org.

Elul Programs: Learning

We’ll have a series of programs designed to prepare us intellectually and spiritually for the Yamim Nora’im, the days of awe. On Saturday Sept. 10 at 12:45 Steven Fraade will offer an in-person Shabbat Schmooze in the BEKI library on the topic “Moses, Deuteronomy, and the Fragile Condition of Our Torah and Lives.” A BEKI member and the Mark Taper Professor of the History of Judaism at Yale University, Steven will offer this follow-up to a past d’var Torah and is hoping for audience participation.

Elul Programs: Nature

Rosh Hashanah is considered the birthday of the world. To prepare us for this celebration of creation, Bruce Spierer will lead a nature walk for all ages at 10 am Sunday, Sept. 11 at Edgewood Park. In addition to observing local ecology, we will weave Torah into our relationship with the natural world and practice reconnecting with our fellow creations. Bruce, the Public Education Manager at the Jewish environmental organization Hazon, is a BEKI member. Meet at the gazebo at the corner of Whalley Avenue and West Rock. Dress for the weather, but we’ll cancel if there is a downpour. Binoculars welcome.

At 12:30 pm, Becky May and Rebecca Weiner will lead the BEKI tradition of “Riverse Tashlich.” It’s reverse because interested teens and adults will remove debris from in and around the West River (get it, Riverse!) before we cast our immaterial sins into the river on Rosh Hashanah. Wear a hat, sturdy shoes, gloves, and sunscreen; bring a water bottle. Tools and clean-up bags will be provided. Work will continue until 2 pm. Come when you can and stay for as long as you would like. Permission slips are required for any unaccompanied BEKI teens under age 18.

Help Greet
Co-chairs Eva Shragis and Rob Lettick are looking for greeters for the High Holy Days. If you have volunteered previously, many thanks; they will be in touch regarding scheduling. If you are new to greeting and are able to help out, please contact Eva (eshragis@hotmail.com) or Robert (robolettick@aol.com) to join the team. So that we can accommodate everyone’s schedule, there will be three training sessions—Tuesday, Sept. 13 at 6:15 pm, Sunday, Sept. 18 at 9:45 am, and Monday, Sept. 19 at 6:15 pm—but if you cannot make a session, we will accommodate you.

Healing Service
Rabbi Woodward will lead a healing service on Friday, Sept. 16 at 6 pm. See his column on page 14 for details about this Kabbalat Shabbat healing service on the third Friday of each month.

Elul Programs: Meditation
Again this year, Robin Goldberg will offer a Heart of the New Year Meditation. A BEKI member, Robin is a certified instructor of Heart Rhythm Meditation. At the New Year, as we pause to reflect on past deeds and contemplate how we can do better in the coming year, meditation can help us grow the skills we need in order to be more of the person we want to become. Join us in the BEKI library Saturday, Sept. 17 at 12:45 pm; no special clothing or equipment is required; everyone will sit in chairs.

Selichot Service
Our traditional Selichot Service is Saturday, Sept. 17 at 9 pm in person and on Zoom.

Back to Shul Day
On Sunday, Sept. 18, which is the first day of religious school, adults are invited also, to help prepare BEKI for the High Holy Days. We need volunteers to help polish silver, change torah covers, clean up and beautify our grounds. If you would like to be involved, contact Jennifer Myer (jennifer.myer@yale.edu or 203.241.7439).

Everyone is welcome to join the religious school child-dren at 11:45 am for a sweet children-centered apples and honey program.

Operation Isaiah
As in previous years, BEKI will collect non-perishable food items for the Jewish Family Services Food Pantry. Bags will be distributed at Rosh Hashanah to fill and return. If you don’t want to schlep your bag back to BEKI, another option is to provide cash, and BEKI will purchase grocery gift cards for the Pantry. You may send a check to the BEKI office tagged for Operation Isaiah or ask Peggy to bill your BEKI account. The drive will extend through Sukkot.

High Holy Day services
Entry again this year will be ticketless for members, with the greeters confirming admission using a list at the doorway.

Members are asked to pay at least 1/3 of the annual dues prior to the High Holy Days, as has been the custom in years past. This allows BEKI to meet our financial obligations. If you need accommodation or abatement, please be in touch with Steve Rudof. Members with questions as to their standing should inquire with the office.

Guests and visitors are most welcome, but all adults require reservations for most services. Active-duty military, police personnel, and full-time students may enter with valid official ID; however, advance arrangements are required.

To be included on our non-member/guest list, please make arrangements with our office before 2 pm on Friday, Sept. 23. Call 203.389.2108 x114 or email office@beki.org. Tickets for immediate family start at just $36 and for guests at $150.

Children accompanied by their adults are always welcome to join us.

Children’s services will be offered both days of Rosh Hashanah and on Yom Kippur at 10:45 am (session 1) and noon (session 2).

Order Your Lulav & Etrog
If you want to buy a set for Sukkot, we have 40 sets available. To place an order, contact the BEKI office at office@beki.org or 203.389.2108 x114 by Monday, September 19. Reserve early to be sure you have your lulav and etrog. When you order, please say your name and how many sets you want. The cost remains $40 per set. Pickup will be from the BEKI office after Yom Kippur.

Casting Off Our Sins
BEKI’s popular Tashlich, a brief ceremony suitable for all ages, will be held—rain or shine—on Monday, Sept. 26 at 5 pm at two outdoor locations: the Edgewood Bridge and the Whitney Museum Covered Bridge. Friends and neighbors are welcome to join us; no reservations are needed. Minchah/Maariv services will follow at the Edgewood Bridge. (There will be no Minchah/Maariv services at BEKI that day).

Kever Avot Services
Rabbi Woodward will lead a brief community memorial service on Sunday, Oct. 2 at the Warner Street cemetery in Hamden at 10 am and at the Farwell Street cemetery in West Haven at 11 am.

Building the Sukkah
Roger Colten needs assistance with the first stage of building the BEKI sukkah on Sunday, Oct. 2, at 9:30 am, following services. Sukkah completion work will be Thursday, Oct. 6 at 3:00 pm. Roger says that the “solemn day of disassembly” will be Sunday, Oct. 23 at 9:30, after minyan. If you can help with any part of the work, please email r_colten@yahoo.com.
Consult the October bulletin for details about Sukkah parties.

Yom Kippur Schedule

Break-Fast
Following the Neilah service on Yom Kippur, members and all who have pre-arranged to join us for the High Holy Days are invited to break the fast communally in the downstairs social hall.
Shai Hurwitz Bar Mitzvah

The bar mitzvah of Shai Jonathan Hurwitz, child of Debbie Chirnomas and Michael Hurwitz, will be celebrated on Saturday, September 3, parashat Shoftim. The congregation is invited to attend. Kiddush lunch sponsored by Debbie and Mike will follow. Shai, who is starting 8th grade at Ezra Academy, loves playing drums and bass, especially when it is rock, or his favorite, punk music.

Can You Provide a Meal?

BEKI uses the platform Lotsa Helping Hands to support families with new babies. Through this system, members sign up to provide dinner each Tuesday and Friday. You can prepare and deliver the dinner or arrange delivery from a restaurant.

Anything you need to know—how many people to feed; vegetarian, kashrut or allergy specifications; address and time for delivery—is provided. The system will also send you helpful reminders. Just log in and choose your password. When a new baby arrives in our community, you’ll receive an email with a link to Lotsa Helping Hands. The calendar will show when meals are needed, allowing you to choose a date that’s convenient for you; if you later need to change dates, the platform arranges that also.

This system works only if we can be sure someone will sign up for each date. More participants will help ensure full coverage. Please sign up today. If you have questions, consult rachel.d.greenberg@gmail.com.

The Traffic Light at Harrison Street

Periodically, BEKI folks complain that when they exit BEKI’s parking lot, they wait at the traffic light at Harrison & Whalley, and the light never turns green for them. On July 21, the system was checked by New Haven’s office of Transportation, Traffic & Parking and found to be working properly.

Ritual

Please realize that you’ll probably need to wait close to a full minute for the green. The way that the system knows to offer that green light is a camera on the signal pole as you approach the stop bar (the white stop line) at Whalley. Be sure to drive all the way up to the stop bar so that the camera sees your car.

Minyan Maker

BEKI uses a web app called Minyan Maker to gather each weekday minyan. You can access this website from your computer or mobile phone; no download required. Go to http://minyanmaker.org/app/9133/BethEL/. There are two steps. Up top, you choose which weekday service you are planning to attend (morning or afternoon). Then find your name below and choose “I’ll be there” or “Available if needed.” These two very simple steps are tremendously helpful to ritual committee volunteers trying to gather a minyan.

If you don’t see your name, please send an email to bekitefilla@gmail.com or ritualcoordinator@beki.org, and your name will be added.

Youth Education and Events

First Day of School Sept. 18

Registration is still open for the new school year at our religious school, BINA, which is an acronym for the BEKI Ivrit and Neshamah Academy. Although of course we will teach more than Ivrit (Hebrew) and Neshamah (soul), we see these terms as symbolic of expressing both the content and character work we see as important.

Non-member families are also welcome to enroll students. For enrollment forms, contact Peggy at office@beki.org or click here. For more information, contact Rabbi Woodward at rabbi@beki.org.

This Year’s Teachers, Classes, Days and Times

Teen Kesher Registration

Teen Kesher for 7th and 8th graders is a fun, spirited group that meets for a monthlong series of classes once each season. Join for any series or all three.

Fall: Judaism and Fandom with Rabbi Eric
Winter: Jews in Togas: The Talmud with Annie Norman-Schiff
Spring: Interfaith New Haven with Rabbi Eric.

9th and 10th graders will meet for a series of sessions exploring what Judaism has to say about relevant big issues: changing life stages, making tough choices, caring for yourself, and more. The group will meet three times each semester.

11th and 12th graders will meet for a series of sessions on big questions in the larger world: antisemitism, Israel, and Jewish identity in the world beyond New Haven. The group will meet twice each semester.

To register for Teen Kesher or for more information, contact Rabbi Woodward at rabbi@beki.org.

Scholarships for Synagogue Schools

Through the generosity of a donor, the Jewish Foundation provides needs-based scholarship assistance for New Haven area families to attend synagogue school. The deadline for application submission is Monday, Oct. 3: https://scholarships.jewishnewhaven.org/form/religious.
JCARR Update

The Jewish Community Alliance for Refugee Resettlement (JCARR) volunteers are actively involved with three families who continue to need assistance as they move toward independence.

Shokoria, the mother in JCARR’s Afghan family, and her three daughters participated in a summer English as a Second Language (ESL) program for adults and children at Wilbur Cross High School in New Haven, with Shokoria learning how to navigate using the public buses in New Haven.

The three girls from JCARR’s asylum-seeking family participated in summer camp programs that provided opportunities to make friends, strengthen language skills, do arts and crafts, swim and more. A fun time was had by all.

For more information about JCARR and how you can help, contact Madeleine Kleinman madk117@gmail.com

Gallery

Two Current Exhibitions

As we await the second Ancestors exhibition in the BEKI galleries, we have a couple more weeks to enjoy the work of an Israeli artist in the upstairs gallery and a Westville resident downstairs.

Although Mordecai Avniel (1900-89) devoted most of his life to expressing his love for the Israeli landscape in paintings, his early work was in a variety of media—such as woodcuts, copper and stone. Arriving in Israel in 1921, Avniel was one of the founders of the Bezalel Academy of Art and Design in Jerusalem. This retrospective exhibition coincides with the second yahrzeit of his granddaughter, Liora Lew, who inherited many of his paintings.

Belle Kogan Greenberg (1931-2022), a BEKI member who passed away in June, studied at what is now called the Yale School of Art. Her 1961 painting of Ben Gurion was produced in response to seeing Ben Gurion teaching on a kibbutz that Belle visited with her husband while living in Israel. The portrait, a gift for her mother, who was an ardent Zionist, was donated to BEKI in 2012. BEKI owns three of her works, all donated by the artist. The other paintings in the exhibition are on loan from her family.

Portrait of David Ben Gurion by Belle Greenberg, 1961 (signed Belle G.). Oil on masonite board, 30 x 45 inches, framed in wood with gold leaf.
Gift Shop for the New Year

We are fully stocked with all your Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur needs. We have a full selection of shofarot—real ram’s horn, plastic and plush—plus local honey. New to our store this year are embroidered shofar bags, white and cream kippot, small dishes that do double duty serving salt or honey, delicately embroidered cross-body bags to wear and “not carry” on the holidays.

Also NEW this year: $18 Rosh Hashanah Gift Bag, great for a host or hostess, college students away from home, or anyone celebrating the New Year. Our bags contain:

- One new kippah – white cotton knitted with a silver edging OR a deluxe satin kippah with a hidden hair clip
- One 5.5oz jar of local Stonewall Apiary honey
- One wooden honey dripper
- Two handmade Sefad candles
- One KEK holiday card
- One Emanuel decorative match box cover

Make it a DELUXE PACKAGE with wonderful High Holy Day “add ons” such as hand-made honey spoons by Joy Stember, velvet shofar carrying bag, ram’s horn shofar, plastic shofar, honey dish, extra jar of honey, or jewelry (add on prices vary).

We are open every day except Shabbat by appointment, or drop in after most minyanim. Karen Kassap 203-430-2182. Harriet Friedman 203-675-8607. Gifts-hop@beki.org

With all the work of the high holidays – doing teshuvah and cooking and planning a service – we sometimes lose sight of the way that this season of the year is a particularly good time to work on our own, personal healing.

There’s a tradition from Rebbe Nachman of Bratslav that, in the days before Rosh Hashanah – which is a day on which we metaphorically crown God as a ruler – God is particularly accessible to us in regular life. He writes that a king entering a city first travels through fields, and while that king is walking through the fields, anyone can come up to the king and express their needs. It is only once the king gets into the city, on Rosh Hashanah, that a more formal relationship takes hold.

This idea of God being “in the fields,” accessible to everyone, is a metaphor for the month of Elul, which begins Aug. 28 and precedes Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. It’s a month when we can really approach God with our needs – when we are metaphorically walking about the fields.

For many of us, that walking isn’t just a metaphor. We often spend late summer trying to experience the weather before it changes, trying to be outside (“in the fields”), to appreciate the informality and openness of summer.

In the Mei Hashiloach, Rabbi Mordechai Yosef Leiner said that the fields are a symbol of healing. When we are in these informal places, we are tapping into our own personal need for healing. Healing can mean healing from disease, healing from loss, healing from trauma, or healing from inner demons.

That’s why I’m excited that this September, we are beginning a regular Friday evening healing service. Once a month, on Friday evenings, our Kabbalat Shabbat service will be specially focused on healing. On Sept. 16, Oct. 21, Nov. 18, Dec. 16, join us at BEKI at 6 pm for a Kabbalat Shabbat of healing. (And, if you just want to be at Kabbalat Shabbat, know that it will still work for you. We’re all in need of a little healing, anyway, and the length of the service will be the same.)

I’m also excited that, beginning on Sept. 8, we’ll be holding a monthly gathering for our Chapel Haven friends before Thursday evening minyan. It’s an opportunity for them to discuss a Jewish topic and then join us for minyan.

Last, I want to remind you that I’m here to talk about your needs for healing. Not only physical, but emotional, as well. How are you, really?

Bulletin Bored?
Here’s a unique opportunity to shape BEKI’s primary line of communication with fellow congregants and the world beyond.

The Bulletin needs a layout designer to create each month’s issue. Step up if you’re familiar with any pagination program like Adobe InDesign, or would like to learn how to master InDesign to create publications digitally for the web, email or snail mail.

Advertise Your Business in the Bulletin
Would you like your ad here in the coming year? Each month, the BEKI bulletin reaches over 700 households, most of them in the New Haven area. Check with Peggy in the BEKI office about our variety of ad rates.

Easy Fundraiser
The Stop & Shop gift cards sold by the BEKI office are debit cards for groceries or gasoline. This is an ongoing fundraiser that costs you nothing. Check with Peggy office@beki.org to arrange pickup.
